NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS.

RUNNING TWO FIGHTS AT THE SAME TIME. Director Pairson, of the Board of Freeholders, and Freeholder Turner, of Jersey City, became engaged in a war of words in the office of the Board on Friday afternoon which almost resulted in a fight between them and did cause an encounter between Assistant Clerk John P. Noonan and J. J. Bate, a reporter who was anxious to get a good story of the difficulty between the Freeholders. Director Pairson and Precholder Turner were talking about last year's appropria tions, when the latter accused the director of having deceived Freeholder Rollston in regard to the matter. Pairson denied it and Turner reiterated the charge until both lost their temper, and with all the strength their lungs possessed, they began calling each other rascal, scoundrel and other uncomplimentary names. John Boyd, the clerk of the Board, closed the door so that the voices of the angry disputants would not so that the voices of the angry disputants would not reach the outside. Bate determined to have the story at all hazards and he made his way down the back stairs to the rear of the Freeholders' office, where, although he could not see anything, he could hear everything that was said. Assistant Clerk Noonan followed him down stairs with the intention of ejecting him, but Bate refused to be ejected and a lively tussle ensued. The two fought with all their might for several minutes and then changed the scene of the conflict to the room upstairs. Pairson and Turner heard the noise of the other row and suspended their own long enough to separate the combatants. The reporter retired at the direction of Pairson, although he was anxious to demonstrate his ability to wipe the floor" with the clerk. The double encounter created a sensation.

TO REMEDY DEFECTS IN SCHOOL HOUSES. The Board of Education of Mount Vernon neeting on Friday night which will appear on the ecords as one of the stormlest that was ever held. I was held to act upon the report made by Commisdoner John F. Luther, Dr. Eugene Smith and George J. Penfield, charging incompetency and violation of contract on the part of the architect and builder of the Washingtonville and Fifth-ave. school-house. The committee had suspended the services of the architect, and had ordered that no money should be paid to the contractor until the defects had been made good, and the question of legality of such action having been raised the town coursel's opinion was asked, and decided in favor of the committee.

The report censured the trustees for permitting a poor quality of white marble lintels and stairways t be put in the place of bluestone, at a saving of one half the cost to the contractor, and for overlooking half the cost to the contractor, and for overlooking other violations of the contract. It was also found that the footing courses upon which the foundation walls rested lacked strength and were improperly isid, and that there were other serious defects hidden by patchwork, which made the new parts of the school building dargerous. After considerable wranging, in which personalities were indulged in and charges of petty spite made, a resolution was adopted that the contractor begin within forty-eight hours to remedy the defects at his own expense, or that the Board have it done at the expense of the contractor.

MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR A HANGING. A telegram was received at the fall at Riverhead, f. I., at 6 o'clock last evening, announcing that Gov-ernor Hill had refused to interfere in the case of young Francis Asbury Hewkins, who is to be hanged there on Tuesday, for the murder of his mother. He did not seem to be much affected by the unfavorable news. He said that he expected that the Governor would not permit him to suffer the death penalty.

The Tombs gallows is there and yesterday workmen began the erection of the crossbeam in the juli yard. Carpenters are erecting a high fence about the jail yard to shut out public view. There has not been a hanging in Suffolk County for many years and it is expected that the execution of Hawkins will attract hundreds of curious people from all parts of the county. Already many strangers are here. There are faw hotels in the place and the accommodations for visitors are therefore limited. The hotel men have latel in an extra stock of provisions for Monday and Tuesday, and expect to do a thriving business.

Before the game several of the Columbia men said that they would win the match by about 30 to 0. They fulfilled their prophecy exactly, to the consternation of the Manhattan athletes, who were positive that nearly the reversastate of effects would exist at the close of the match.

The Manhattan players tackled well, but fumbled the ball too much. They also played to an every the ball too much. They also played in an everyman-for-himself manner, which insured deteat. If the players bumped together too forcibly for comfort, "beg-pardons" were exchanged, and they

But in the second half a Player who did not have a bright carmine stream trickling down his face seemed strangely out of place, and the spectators, who had begun to think the contest rather time, got excited and yelled like a tribe of Sioux Indians. Toward the end of the game Young and Klapp had a little difference of opinion which they proceeded to settle by fisticulfs. Gildersleeve seemed to think that by garroting one of the combatants he could stop the unpleasantness. He stopped the wrangle, but nearly settled one of the contestants. FOR THE RACQUET CHAMPIONSHIP. The racquet championship still belongs to Canada. There was a crowd of followers of the game at the Racquet Club in Sixth-ave, vesterday to see the champions, Bonkes and Wright, battle for the champlorship of America. The match was a good one and highly exciting throughout, Boakes winning four out of the seven games played. Boakes is the in structor of the Quebec Rucquet Club. He showed more heatwork to his play and his service was superior to that of his opponent. Witcht, however, played a disperate game, and it looked at one time as if Boakes would have to succumb to the younger man. Boales started off well, while Wright at first did not appear to be in good shape. Boakes captured the first game by 15 to 10. The Canadian had everything his own way in the second game, winning by

Wright then thowed a decided improvement in his work and capined the next two games after a lively contest. The enlookers grew excited and applauded velomently. Wright captured the fifth game by 15 to 10 and took the lead, to the great joy of his friends.
